Editorial Comment

This bulletin has not been published for a while owing to absenteeism.

From e mails received it is apparent that information has been circulating via the various local networks. This bulletin contains information received from about 14th May to ensure that what is being circulated is current and relevant.

In this section there are a couple of warnings, both of which have been mentioned in the past but are still reoccurring

First. Internet Warning

1. Caution to be applied when answering or placing adverts on line and using magazines, especially when providing personal information such as telephone numbers and contact details.. Sadly there are people who will use media and the medium of the internet to make contact with females, trying to arrange a meeting or solicit information about them. Young women, girls are, in the main, being targeted. Although the majority of young people will inform an adult if something untoward occurs there are occasions when this information is not passed on resulting in potential risk. It is good practice for parents to remind and advise their children to be careful when using the internet and disclosing their personal information.

Depending on circumstances it is good practice to inform the police of any suspicious incidents or incidents.

Second. Companies selling advertising space

2. Be aware of companies, advertisers who will try and sell you advertising space. The advertising offer may well include an announcement that the publication is supported by emergency services or is in aid of a charity.

Should you be contacted in a similar fashion you are advised to contact your local County Trading Standards Department. Additionally you can contact you local police to inform them. Dependent on the circumstances an investigation may fall within Trading Standards remit or the police.

A look on the internet found this site which contains useful information on the above subject.
<http://www.insolvency.gov.uk/cib/scams.htm>

Equally there are other sites including the Hampshire Trading Standards Department web site which offers advice regarding the above subject
<http://www3.hants.gov.uk/tradingstandards/tradingstandards-businessadvice/tradingstandards-business-charity.htm>

Does this Horse description mean anything to you?

There's a skewbald stallion (or entire) which has turned up in a field just outside Alton, on the B3006. The owners of this field are known....., last year a young miniature Shetland died of what was suspected to be colic from poor inadequate grazing which was predominantly dock leaves!

Description of the horse as follows:

- Approx' 14.2hh to 15hh
- Certainly over 5yrs old, as he has his canine teeth (or tushes), and they only appear in stallions 5yrs+, but certainly isn't any older than 10yrs.

Hampshire Horsewatch Bulletin
(incorporating information from around the country)

2nd May 2010

- Horse is entire (as un-sure if he's covered yet to negate being a stallion)
- His body markings are skewbald (brown and white), but does have some black colourings in his mane and tail
- He's also got a distinctive white blaze down the front of his face
- He's got a blue Equimax head-collar on
- Temperament wise, he's very nervous, but he did approach the enquiring officer as she was looking round his field, and for an entire, has clearly been well handled as his manners for an entire when handling were impressive.

As yet it is uncertain if he's stolen, but if you are aware of any horses that may have been stolen from your area that match the above, then please give the enquiring officer a call (0780 828 6060).

Many thanks,

Hampshire Horsewatch Bulletin

2nd May 2010

In the south of the county, in the last month there have been thefts of two horse boxes.

First one

A SCANIA Horse Box VRM 4813TR valued in excess of £80,000 was stolen from Wangfield Farm, Wangfield Lane, Curdridge between 17/4/2010 & 18/4/2010
The Registration Detail record shows this vehicle as 'White' although clearly now 'Silver'.
This is recorded as a Hampshire crime.
If you have any information regarding this, please contact Hampshire Constabulary quoting crime reference 44100156065

Please note:

This vehicle may be hidden at present and the thieves/handlers waiting opportunity to sell it. Although the identity may be changed i.e. colour, registration number, plate details, the thieves/handlers will not be able to change what it is...a very big and expensive Scania horse box. Anyone considering buying such a vehicle has to have money set aside, get a loan etc because even a stolen one is going to cost money!!

In order to find this Scania Horse Box horse owners are asked to look out for this particular model and note where and when they saw it, the registration number, and details of the persons with it. Any sightings to be reported to the investigating officer..see details below.

Anyone lucky enough to be able to afford such a horse box should seriously consider who they are buying from. Bona fide sellers, private or in the trade will be able to prove ownership, history of the box and in the circumstances welcome examination of the vehicle.....if there are doubts then call the police.

If you have bought such a Scania Horse Box since the 18th April 2010 then please contact the investigating officer.

Stolen horse boxes and horse trailers do not necessarily invoke as much interest or emotion as a house burglary but they are still property and in this case the stolen horse box is valued at £80,000

A photograph of the Box is attached below. You will need to click onto the JPEG to open it.

Stolen overnight 4th – 5th May 2010 in Portsmouth

Hampshire Horsewatch Bulletin

2nd May 2010

Man manufactured. At the time of the theft the HorseBox was coloured blue with silver stripes

Registration Number is N218 VJB

- This vehicle was seen travelling north in Surrey the night of the theft, prior to it being reported stolen!
- On the 22nd May it was sighted in Northamptonshire!!!

This vehicle may have undergone a transformation by now. But it will always be Man manufacture. If you are fortunate to be able to buy a horse box be very cautious as to who you buy it from!

Recovered Trailers

The annual Wickham Fair was held in the town of Wickham, Hampshire last week. This is a regular traveller /gypsy attended event with their horses etc

Equine Liaison Officers and colleagues policed the event and recovered three stolen trailers. The trailers were stolen from outside Hampshire.

The point being that stolen trailers and boxes do turn up, get checked and will be recovered. Thieves and handlers have to turn their ill gotten gains into cash and that means selling them on to YOU. You have to check and know what you are buying and from whom. If in doubt...say no and report back to your Horsewatch or local police what you have seen.

Full size bronze statue of a horse which stood at the entrance of Addington Manor Equestrian Centre was stolen last night? It has been sawn off at the hooves to take away as it was concreted into the plinth. It is, apparently, unique.

Title: THEFT OF 6X6 MULE

A 6x6 Mule, index Q258AUF was stolen from a farm at Hook Lane, West Hoathly, between Friday 7th and Saturday 8th May. The Mule was a Kawasaki Agric Machine and red in colour.

Chassis Number: AF620AE01785.
Engine Number: FD620DE139491.

A chain was cut to gain entry to a barn and a wheel clamp removed. It is likely that the offenders had previously visited the farm prior to the theft.

Please report any suspicious vehicles to the police as soon as seen. Keeping detailed records and photographs of equipment often makes it very difficult for criminals to sell stolen property and also makes it more likely that they will get caught.

Chassis, Engine and any other unique serial numbers should be recorded and kept safe. It is also a good crime prevention measure to make your equipment look different to any other of the same make or type, this can be achieved by simple engraving or if you are more extreme, give your equipment a coat of loud paint.

If you have any information regarding this incident then call Sussex Police on 0845 6070999 and quote serial 599 of 08/05/10.

Farm Watch Blandford and East Dorset 12 May 2010

A white Ford Car/Van was witnessed stealing red diesel from a tank on a farm in Spetisbury late morning of 11 May. A padlock was forced to gain access. This is from the crime report:-

"AT ABOUT 1210HRS A WHITE FORD FIESTA TYPE VAN APPROACH THE PUMP WITH 2 MALE OCCUPANTS. THE VAN WAS DISTINCTIVE AS IT HAD ONE WHITE REAR WINDOW PANEL AND ONE BLACK. THE VAN APPROACHED THE PUMP, SAW THE PADLOCK THEN RETURNED DOWN THE LANE A LITTLE WAY. AFTER A FEW MOMENTS THE VAN RETURNED. ONE MALE ACTED AS LOOKOUT WHILST THE OTHER MALE ATTACKED THE PADLOCK, BROKE IT OFF AND PROCEEDED TO FILL THE VEHICLE WITH RED DIESEL. VEHICLE THEN LEFT THE FARM. THE REGISTRATION NUMBER WAS TAKEN AS P368 WCU."

This registration number is not quite correct so please look for something very similar. We have a line of enquiry to follow up. This victim had previously seen a white Fiesta van speed off from taking a small amount of diesel so it may be the same vehicle returning.

Watch member at nearby Hampnett disturbed two males in the process of attempting to steal his Fendt 820 tractor from a shed inside a locked yard. The offenders made off on foot and probably escaped via the nearby A40 once again. It appears that they had their own key to start the tractor, which reinforces our earlier advice to consult your usual dealer about fitting additional immobilising devices to your machines.

Piglets Stolen From Mother

Police are appealing for information after six piglets were stolen from their mother in Wadborough, near Worcester.

The four-day-old Kune Kune piglets were taken from their sty, within a pen, at a small holding on the corner of Crabbe Lane and Ladywood Lane.

One was taken anytime from 20:00 on Sunday (May 9), two on Monday and the final three were taken today (Wednesday) sometime before 09:00. They were born on Saturday.

Owner Dawn Christys said: "We don't think an animal has got them as there are no signs at all of a struggle or any trace left behind. There is also nowhere they could have escaped.

"The awful thing is that these piglets need their mother to survive. Taking them is animal cruelty and we are so upset."

A police spokesperson added: "We would like to hear from anyone who has seen any suspicious activity in the area since Saturday, or who knows the whereabouts of these piglets."

The piglets are worth up to £300 each.

Anyone with information should call police on 0300 333 3000, quoting 122/S/120510, or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Attention Drawn

Please note that a white Ford Transit panel van, reg YM55VBJ has been seen in suspicious circumstances in the rural area around Evesham (but could obviously turn up anywhere). It is possible the occupants are interested in scrap metal.

Please be mindful and report any sightings to the police call centre, via the switchboard, on 0300 333 3000 (or 999 if a crime is in progress).
